A&P WAREHOUSE IS BEGUN

Unity and Sebring Scenes of Mishaps; Seven Are Injured

By CAROL CROFT
Two area residents were killed in separate traffic mishaps within an hour and a half of each other Thursday.
The dead are:
Alex McCreadie, 55, of Alliance, Charles A. Frye, 60, of RD 1, Petersburg.
The first accident, in which Frye was killed, occurred at 4:40 p.m. at the intersection of State Routes 14 and 170 at Unity, five miles east of Columbiana, when the car which he was driving north on Route 170 pulled into the side of a truck driven by Richard K. Huston, 27, of East Palestine, eastbound on Route 14, according to the State Patrol.

Frye was pronounced dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital. A passenger in his car, Manuel Birk, 16, of RD 1, East Palestine, is in fairly good condition at the hospital where he was admitted with lacerations of the head and scalp and a bruised chest.
The Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol is still investigating the mishap.
The mishap in which McCreadie was killed and four other persons were taken to Alliance City Hospital occurred at 6:05 p.m. at the intersection of Bandy and Courtney Rds., two miles west of Sebring in Smith Township, Mahoning County.
Transue-Williams Official
McCreadie, production manager of the Transue and Williams Co., Alliance, was taking his wife, daughter and her friend to their cottage at Berlin Lake. He was driving east on Courtney Rd. and turned north onto Bandy Rd. when the southbound car driven by Mrs. Eleanor Sosnick, 33, of North Benton struck his vehicle in the right side, throwing him out.
He was pronounced dead on arrival at Alliance City Hospital at 6:29 p.m. Exact cause of death is not yet known.
Mrs. Sosnick and McCreadie's 13-year-old daughter, Barbara, walked to a nearby residence and called Sebring police. Ambulances from the Vogt Funeral Home in Sebring and Myers Funeral Home in Alliance rushed the victims to the Alliance City Hospital.
Also injured were his wife, Mrs. Bessie McCreadie, 50, who is in fair condition at the hospital with lacerations of the forehead, left eye, chin and right knee, and Suanne Becker, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Becker of Alliance, who is in fair condition at the hospital with a lacerated scalp and possible concussion.
Barbara McCreadie is in fair condition with multiple lacerations of the left arm, left leg and scalp. Mrs. Sosnick was treated and released for contusions of both knees and her nose.
Deputy Sheriff Arthur Ellis was assisted by Patrolman Gary Hendon of the Sebring police department.
Investigation is continuing. No charges have been filed.
Two other accidents in the area also resulted in injuries to two persons.
Canfield Post of the State Highway Patrol is investigating an accident involving a motorcyclist.

AT A&P PLANT SITE — Powerful bulldozers and earth moving machinery are pictured at the 65-acre site just south of Salem where the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. has started work on construction of a $3 million refrigerated warehouse to serve its big Central Division. The company acquired the industrial site a year ago from the Salem Area Industrial Corporation.

Meat Plant Cost Set At $3 Million

By VIRGINIA HURRAY
Officials of the Atlantic & Pacific Supermarkets today confirmed earlier reports that a new refrigerated warehouse is to rise for the company near Salem's southern edge. In fact, grading operations at the site bordering the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks is in progress.
The plant will cover about three acres and will represent an investment of nearly $3,000,000 for land, plant and equipment.
While A & P officials hesitate to state the eventual number of employees to be hired at the new plant, it is believed 150 or more men and women will be engaged in work at the new warehouse at the outset.
Completion of the structure and installation of equipment is expected to require about a year.
The site for A & P's new distribution plant is the center of a 65-acre plot of ground on the westerly side of State Route 43, the Salem-Lisbon Road, just south of the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.
Land preparation began Wednesday when bulldozers started to level the property.
General contractor on the job is Freeman Construction Co. of Wooster, the firm that built the Salem Senior High School in 1958.
Soda & Lusher Co. of Youngstown, as a subcontractor, is doing the excavating work.
Frozen foods and perishables will be received, stored under ideal conditions and distributed throughout the company's Central Division from the new plant, an A & P spokesman told The News this morning.
More than three-quarters of the space in the warehouse will be devoted to fresh meats — beef, veal, pork, lamb, poultry and other meats, much of it from Chicago, Omaha, St. Louis and other points via a spur from the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks alongside the property.
Bacon slicing and packaging and other processing to be done at the plant will include production of wholesale cuts for store distribution.
Praise Local Cooperation
Officials of A & P expressed gratitude to public officials of Salem and Columbiana County and to others, including the Salem Area Industrial Development Corporation, for "wholehearted cooperation in planning for the new plant."
The new food distribution center is to be the first of its kind in A & P's Central Division, which is comprised of major portions of four states and smaller sections of two other states. In the vast company's Central Division are: approximately two-thirds of Ohio, a half of Pennsylvania, two-thirds of New York, nearly all of West Virginia, and small portions of Kentucky and Maryland.

Three Youths Lost In Mine

Searchers Probe Pittsburgh Coal Pit
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Weary rescue workers emerged from an abandoned coal mine today after an all-night search and said they found no trace of three missing teen-agers boys believed lost inside.
T.J. McDonald, assistant district supervisor for the U.S. Bureau of Mines, ordered the hunt suspended temporarily. He said: "If the boys do not show by this afternoon, we are going to press our search even further."
However, he added: "If they were there, we would have found them by now."
McDonald said rescuers had searched every part of the mine that was accessible, covering an estimated 1,200-square foot area.
One section of the mine is filled with water, but McDonald said a heavy scum on the surface had not been disturbed.
Mine rescue experts, aided by police and firemen, launched a search for the youths Thursday night after another boy reported he saw them enter the old mine in suburban Castle Shannon.
Bicycles of the boys, identified as Billy Berk, 13; Danny O'Kain, 13; and Robert Abbott, 14, were found about 20 feet from the mine mouth. The entrance, previously sealed with brick and wire mesh, had been torn open.

Group Starts Railroad Study

To Give President Report By July 20
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's fact-finding committee goes to work today on a new study of the railroad labor dispute.
Its object: To sift the facts in the four-year-old fight over new work rules and have a report ready for the President by July 20. The report will serve as the basis of legislative recommendations Kennedy plans to make to Congress July 22, a week before a truce expires for a threatened nationwide rail strike.
Thursday night, a high government source said it is a fair conclusion that the legislation would involve some form of arbitration — the expectation in government circles since the dispute began building to a head.
Members of the special panel haven't ruled out the possibility of playing a mediator's role if the opportunity arises. But the chairman, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, tends to the view that there is little likelihood of mediation by a panel member in the short time allotted for completion of the report.
At a 90-minute organizational meeting Thursday, Wirtz emphasized there will be no attempt at mediation by the committee as a whole. As to the possibility that he or another member will act as a mediator, Wirtz' attitude is understood to be "let's wait and see."
The railroads have agreed to postpone at least until July 29 changes in the manning of trains that will gradually eliminate some 65,000 jobs. Five operating unions representing 190,000 workers have pledged to withhold strike action until that date.
By winning this reprieve Wednesday afternoon, Kennedy forestalled a strike that had been scheduled to begin at 12:01 a.m. Thursday.
Wirtz is pictured as having a firm conviction that between July 22 and 29 it is possible to get legislation dealing with the situation through what is regarded as a reluctant Congress.
At a news conference Thursday, House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana served notice that "Congress is not going to be stampeded into any action that is not justified."

On Old Post Office Site

Home Savings to Erect Building
The Home Savings & Loan Co. of Youngstown was notified this morning from the General Services Administration that the company's bid of $75,500 has been accepted for Salem's old Post Office building.
D. Norman Eckfeld, assistant treasurer of the company and manager of the company's Salem branch, said today that as quickly as the transfer of title to the property can be arranged, Home Savings will tear down the old brick structure, which has been abandoned since May, 1962, and will construct a modern one-floor savings and loan office building on the site.
John Samuels of Youngstown is the architect for the new bank building.
While details concerning the style of structure to be erected are yet to be decided upon, Eckfeld indicated the new office building will include drive-in facilities

Two Killed In West Virginia

Officers Shoot Men When Making Arrest
CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—A long, bitter feud between two mountain families in West Virginia exploded into a gun battle Thursday when police attempted to serve a warrant at the home of Ernest Moore, near here.
When the gunsmoke cleared, Moore, 67, and his son, Andrew, 23, were dead. The elder Moore's wife, Garnet, 57, suffered a head cut and was charged with resisting an officer.
Three State Troopers, who approached the house with two Manawha County sheriff's deputies Thursday afternoon, recounted this story:
The Moores had been feuding for years with the O.F. Miles family, owners of adjacent mountain property. Miles had sworn out a warrant against the Moores last week, but the Moores chased away officers four times as they attempted to serve the document.
Thursday Charles Walker, Kanawha County prosecutor, issued a warrant for the arrest of the Moores. Deputies Willie Gibbs and Lawrence Carpenter joined State Troopers D. A. Nickerson, C. N. Cooke and J. O. Blevins in another attempt to get the warrant served.
Gibbs knocked on the door of the Moore cabin and was told by Mrs. Moore, "You'll be shot if you don't get out of here."
Seconds later, a shotgun blast ripped through the screen door. Gibbs' face felt the breeze.
The gunshot was the signal for Cooke and Blevins to storm through the back door. They opened fire on Moore and his son as they burst in.
Moore was hit three times and his son was shot twice. None of the officers was hit. Funeral attendants said the officers' shots were fired at such close range that five slugs passed through the

6 Hurt In Maryland Flareup

Guard May Be Used To Quell Race Riots
CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — National Guard troops were ordered into this city of 12,200 today after roving bands of gunmen wounded six white persons in a climax to hours of racial rioting.
CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—With six white persons wounded in a new and continuing siege of gunfire in racial violence here, State Police asked today that they be allowed to turn over the restoration of order to the National Guard.
"There is shooting all over the city—almost on the scale of warfare," said Maj. George E. Davidson, State Police field commander.
"The situation requires the attention of the military. I have recommended to the governor that militia law be reinstated. I am confident that my recommendation will be followed."
Gov. J. Millard Tawes was expected to announce his decision on the recommendation before noon.
As Davidson spoke, shots echoed throughout the night and small groups of armed whites and Negroes roared through the city in automobiles, shooting at persons not of their own race.
Three of the wounded were National Guardsmen who were fired upon as they drove through the Negro section of southwest Cambridge. They had just been re-

Chamber Cites New Jobs Effect On City

Enthusied over the prospect of new industry (A & P) in this city, there are: 296 more persons in the community; 112 more households, 51 more school children; $390,000 more personal income a year; $270,000 more bank deposits annually; 107 more passenger automobile registrations; 174 more workers employed; four more retail establishments; and $360,000 more retail sales a year.

Here's How Plant Was Won

Community Effort Followed 1st Tip
Here are some of the important, preliminary events which transpired before today's story about the coming of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. plant could be written today:
In late May, 1961, Victor C. Ballenger, executive secretary of the Salem Area Chamber of Commerce, received a caller from Cleveland.
The visitor at the E. State St. C. of C. office was Ralph Ream, industrial relations officer for the Pennsylvania Railroad, who told the executive secretary that a national firm was looking for acreage in this area along the railroad tracks.
Ream also had been checking in other communities, including Columbiana and Alliance.
On June 5 two years ago, a representative of the A & P Co. came to the local Chamber office revealing that it was his firm which was looking for an industrial site in this area.
Salem was ready to fill the needs of the A & P because in 1960 the Salem Area Industrial Corporation took an option on 60 acres of land along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks a few hundred feet south of the corporation limits on the Lisbon Road. The following year SAICD bought the land from Doug Turner & Associates.

Fairfield - Waterford Board Adopts Budget

A budget of $368,950 for 1964—an increase of $17,754 over this year's—was adopted when the Fairfield-Waterford School Board met Thursday evening at Crestview High School.
Joe Driscoll, executive head of the school district, pointed out that the increase is necessary because of an increase in enrollment and a deficit last year in the special education fund.
Miss Derringer Resigns
In other action, the Board accepted "with deep regret" the resignation of Miss Ruth Derringer, a teacher in the Fairfield-Waterford system for 40 years. Miss Derringer taught English and mathematics and was also school librarian.

Miss Derringer will assume a position as librarian at an Akron Hospital after conclusion of a three-week vacation trip to Alaska. She taught her first year at the Mount Nebo school and is an avid fan of school athletics, having served as scorekeeper and coach of the girls' basketball team for many years.
Two new teachers were hired at last night's session. Merritt Hughes of McDonald, who will graduate from Youngstown University in January, will teach social studies and be head basketball coach in the junior high.

SAICD Head Praises Joint Effort On A&P

Arch Bricker, president of the Salem Area Development Corporation, commented today:
"The new A & P will give Salem the diversification in industry which the city has been needing. I feel A & P will be good for Salem — and I hope Salem will be good for A & P."
Bricker declared that the coming of the A & P plant "hasn't been the result of efforts of a small group of people."
He said the acquisition of a new major employer in Salem is the result of "a combined effort of many men working in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Railroad."

If Measure Approved At Polls In November

Legislature's Recess Insures Fast Action on Improvements Bond Issue

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS Ohio AP)—Ohio's General Assembly has closed up shop until Dec. 2.

Instead of taking the usual final adjournment at the end of regular work Thursday, both houses recessed the session that convened Jan. 7.

Leaders said the recess placed the legislature in position to implement a $250 million capital improvements bond issue proposal, if approved at the polls in November.

Legislators also plan a study of Ohio's welfare program looking to possible reorganization of administration and financing at both state and local levels after the recess.

They said the study would include proposals to qualify Ohio for participation in a federal program for Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed (ADCU), which failed to get anywhere during the regular session.

Another study possibility advanced was state redistricting. The governor's Little Hoover Commission, now surveying state government operations, may have some recommendations for consideration they added.

The legislature completed major work June 28 but returned Wednesday for a two-day cleanup session.

On the final day lawmakers approved additional common pleas judges for several counties and redivided and passed a previously defeated bill appropriating nearly $1 million to pay sundry claims against the state, which cannot be sued.

Cuyahoga county received two additional judges. Counties getting one more judge each were Clermont, Lake, Lucas, Licking, Hamilton, Trumbull and Montgomery.

Enactment of the Sundry Claims Bill followed Senate refusal to delete a $32,000 tax refund to the Cincinnati Traction Co. and $1,829 to make good penitentiary inmate earnings embezzled from a fund by a fellow convict.

They also made a $140,000 award for University Hospital bills of Eldon L. Barnett East Liverpool a prisoner injured while working in a state park.

Lost for lack of support were administration-backed measures to increase the state's liquor markup and to give the state custody of unclaimed bank deposits stock dividends and similar funds.

Last-minute attempts to work out an acceptable compromise on a new Sunday closing measure also failed.

Resignation of two senators and appointment of their successors marked last day activities.

Sen. Lowell Fess R-Greene resigned to accept membership on the State Personnel Board of Review. Sen. Robert Zellar R-Muskingum handed in his previously announced resignation to take a post on the Board of Tax Appeals.

Republican senators picked Rep. Max Dennis R-Clinton who resigned from the House to replace Fess. They named Zanesville attorney Tom Moorehead former congressman and state senator to succeed Zellar.

Fess served the 5th-6th Senatorial District since 1953. He previously served four terms in the House starting in 1945.

Zellar represented the new 9th-14th-15th-16th Senatorial District, stretching from Delaware County to Washington County along with Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem R-Athens. Reapportionment combined Mechem's former district with that served by Zellar.

Mechem has said he will seek re-election next year from the combined district which will have only one senator next session. Moorehead is not expected to oppose him.

Before senators quit work, they confirmed 16 more appointments to the Industrial Development Advisory Council. Nine appointments by the governor were approved earlier.

Senate and House leaders also announced a series of appointments to a new legislative service commission and other groups to serve between legislative sessions.

All pending legislation in both houses was postponed indefinitely, to preclude any further action after the recess.

Only two firecracker blasts in the Senate punctuated the general handshaking and farewells in both houses that followed recess.

STATE GASOLINE, SALES AND CIGARETTE TAXES

(As of July 1, 1963)

A TAXING SUMMER — Vacationers crossing this fair land will find more taxes, new taxes and higher taxes as they travel from state to state. Newspaper lists, by state, the three taxes which tourists are most likely to encounter: gasoline, sales and cigarette taxes.

Gasoline taxes: No escape in any state. Rates range from 5 cents to 8 cents per gallon, with 25 states collecting 6 cents to 7 cents and 18 states at least 7 cents per gallon.

Sales taxes: Rates are commonly 3 per cent or 4 per cent with Pennsylvania in the lead with 5 per cent.

Cigarette taxes: Taxes per pack range from a high of 8 cents in 4 states to zero in Colorado, North Carolina and Oregon. Many areas have local cigarette taxes, too. Data is from Commerce Clearing House, a private organization reporting on tax and business law.

Mechanical Heart Used By Man Who 'Died' Five Times

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Norman Howard "died" five times before he got a mechanical lease on life.

That lease is a battery-powered device in the abdomen of the 53-year-old Maryville businessman. The little lifesaver is connected by wires to two tiny electrodes sewed to the muscles of Howard's heart. It steps up his heartbeat and compensates for a fault in the heart impulses.

The beginning of what might have been the end for Howard was last April 9.

He came home from a day of fishing, took a hot bath and, as he prepared for bed, noticed his heart pounding. Short of breath he checked his pulse.

"The way I counted it, my pulse beat was 40 to the minute," he said. "Sounded slow to me." The normal beat is 68 to 70.

Next day Howard saw a doctor.

There was no evidence of heart attack or heart damage.

"But there's something wrong," the doctor said. "We're going to have to put you in the hospital."

"I started to protest," Howard recalled. "Now? I never felt better in my—right there I collapsed."

His heart was stilled. After long moments, the doctor stirred it to activity again by a powerful chemical, isoproterenol hydrochloride.

Howard, the doctor says, "died" briefly three more times during the next 20 days in a hospital.

When it seemed the attacks were easing Howard returned home. Two days later he had his fifth brush with oblivion.

"I thought he was gone," said his wife, a former X-ray technician. "We rushed him to University Hospital in Knoxville, the doctor giving him suprel isoproterenol hydrochloride through the veins all the way—and that's quite a trick in an ambulance."

At this point, doctors decided to use the Pacemaker, the electrical heartbeat regulator.

Howard's heart was attached to its mechanical companion May 16. He plans to return to work next week.

Illiteracy a Real Problem

Secretary of Labor Wirtz was telling the unemployment subcommittee of the House Labor Committee about the problem of vocational training the other day.

There has been so much bright talk about retraining unemployed persons to fit them for jobs that it almost seems as if the problem had been solved. The truth is it hasn't been defined.

Secretary Wirtz was in a mood to dig down to the roots.

He said in effect that the federal government needed $100 million more, in addition to $161 million already appropriated for job retraining, to pay for literacy training.

This was necessary because at the level where unemployment is most severe no job retraining is possible if trainees cannot read and write.

He gave as an example the futility of training an unemployed man to become a building custodian if the trainee couldn't read the labels on detergent packages, rat poison packages, or even write his own name.

But frightening as it is to know that the problem of unemployment cannot be solved unless the problem of education can be solved, it is more frightening to know that the U.S. secretary of labor still has not reached rock bottom.

Most of the illiterates he is talking about have been exposed to instruction in reading and writing at the most impressionable age for learning. For some reason they did not learn. Others learned, but they didn't. Why?

Because some never can be taught to read and write. They could not learn as children and will not learn now when they are handicapped in competition for places on someone's payroll.

States and localities already have spent millions trying to teach them, to no avail. Contrary to the throbbing belief that more federal money can cure anything, including the ills of education, most illiteracy cannot be fixed with dollars.

Few if any illiterates in this country are that way because they lacked the opportunity to learn.

David Lawrence
self?

By DAVID LAWRENCE
These are sad days — human conflicts and controversies fill the headlines. There's plenty to write about — including labor troubles.

problems of foreign policy and emotional demonstrations on the home front for civil rights. But what is more important than the integrity of our government itself?

What is more distressing than the tendency nowadays to gloss over the unmorality of politics as a custom that has come to say—as an end that justifies the means? How can this be expected to maintain confidence in American institutions?

Tucked away every now and then in the news dispatches read by the American people are evidences of what is fundamentally wrong with our government. But these arouse no demonstrations or demands that governmental power shall be used only for the good of the people instead of the self-interest of office holders.

Here is an example from a United Press International dispatch this week:

"President Kennedy yesterday nominated Rep. Homer Thornberry, D-Tex., as a federal judge for the Western District of Texas. In so doing, he rewarded Thornberry for past support but at the same time created a further problem for himself in the closely divided House rules group."

"Speaker McCormack let it be known he had picked another Texan to fill Thornberry's crucial rules seat, and word was passed among members that (Rep. John) Young was the man. In selecting Young, McCormack obviously acted in the belief Young could be counted on in a pinch to support the leadership even in the face of adverse local interest."

IT'S REPORTED on Capitol Hill, moreover, that the administration plans to defer action in the Senate on the Thornberry nomination until sometime toward the end of the present session in order to assure his vote for administration policies in the closely divided rules committee of the House while important legislation is being considered by the committee in the next few months.

The House Rules Committee has a majority of Democrats, but they do not all think as the administration wants them to think. Often legislation that is deemed desirable by the President doesn't get out of this committee.

Why should Rep. Thornberry be "rewarded" with a federal judgeship? He has never served on the bench in any court. Why should the President of the United States give anyone a lifetime post in the judicial system on the basis of favors done of a political nature?

How can there be confidence in the federal judiciary if judgeships become a matter of political patronage? Were there no lawyers or state judges in West Texas better qualified for the judgeship in question?

The argument is made that this has been done in the past by other administrations — as if, once a political use is employed, it may readily be taken as an established precedent or practice for the future.

The American people have been told again and again that theirs is a government by the people and for the people and that no selfish interest should prevail against the national interest.

sponsibility — such as is applied under the British or Canadian parliamentary system.

The answer certainly doesn't lie in using federal judgeships as a "reward" to individual members of Congress elected by the people to deal with public questions on their merits and not as a president may dictate that they shall vote.

Time and again the American Bar Association has cried out that federal judges should be named on the basis of their qualifications and not for political reasons.

The association has tried, through a specially appointed committee, to classify as "well qualified" or just "qualified" or "not qualified" the names of those under consideration by the Department of Justice for recommendation to the president.

Even this system caters somewhat to the political climate prevailing in the Department of Justice. It should not be necessary for a bar association committee or any other group to remind an administration of the importance of moral integrity in the exercise of governmental powers, especially when judges are to be appointed.

DOES THE SYSTEM of using judgeships as a "reward" for past political favors mean that judges already on the bench can expect promotions to the U. S. Court of Appeals if they "play ball" with the administration in power?

All these are fundamental questions. They naturally are asked when the American people are told that a congressman who has "played ball" with the administration receives a federal judgeship, whilst other men—as well, if not better, qualified—are passed over.

This is news to many people but not to the politically minded who hold high office and feel they can rely on the continued indifference of the voters to such practices in present day politics.

Man's Reach Should Exceed His Grasp--

Business Competition

Ralph Cordiner, chairman of the board of General Electric, was asked by Victor Riesel to outline his company's policies and the reasons for such successful competition. His comment follows.

By RALPH J. CORDINER
Chairman of the Board
General Electric Company

The highly competitive international market that is emerging today represents one of the toughest challenges facing United States business management.

The day is past when we can think in terms of a "domestic market" and a "foreign market," and choose which one to compete in. For an increasingly large proportion of United States businesses, competition is worldwide. Some of our best customers are overseas, and so are some of our most aggressive and successful competitors.

This is a fact which must be in the forefront of all business planning, and profoundly affects the levels of employment in this country.

In many companies today, every employee has a competitive counterpart overseas who is generally receiving considerably less pay and has a lower standard of living.

The lower wages and salaries paid by our overseas competitors give them a tremendous advantage in lower costs and prices. In many instances, they also have highly efficient manufacturing facilities and laboratories that were built new after World War II and are among the most modern in the world.

Under these conditions, a United States company is required to meet foreign competition by making the most effective use of all the resources at its command, with new products, new methods of manufacturing and the best quality workmanship. The experience of the General Electric Radio Receiver Department of Utica, N. Y., is a case in point.

As recently as four years ago, we were not certain we could stay in the transistor radio business in the face of Japanese competition. The Japanese radio was priced spectacularly below domestic makes. The flood of radio imports from Japan reached a new high in 1962, capturing two-thirds of the United States transistor radio market and more than 40 per cent of the total radio market.

TO MEET his Japanese competition, and thereby protect employment in the Utica plant, the General Electric people in Utica embarked on a major drive to reduce costs.

The engineers redesigned our radio products to meet the new competition. Management decided to risk a major investment in new production equipment. The factory was renovated and expanded to permit more streamlined assembly lines and swift conveyor systems.

Employees at all levels came up with ideas to improve values and cut cost. New machines stepped up output and held to rigid high-quality standards.

Today, transistor radios made at Utica are successfully competing in the world market. New products have been introduced. Utica has been impressive. Where by the Radio Receiver Department, such as multi-band sets, stereo-FM, portable home intercoms, educational science kits, and a remote control system for model trains—creating new employment opportunities.

The impact on employment at Utica has been impressive. Where four years ago the future of the Radio Receiver Department was in question, it is now employing one-third more people than in 1959.

SUCH SUCCESS stories of competition are the result of three factors—bold business planning, risk-taking investment in new products and facilities, and the spirited cooperation of employees.

Another example of the same principles is our steam turbine business at Schenectady, N.Y., and Lynn, Mass.

Just a few years ago, this business was severely threatened by low-cost competition from Europe. Yet, all-out efforts by all the people involved resulted in about 30 per cent of General Electric shipments of steam turbines last year going to overseas customers.

But the battle for competitive markets is never done. All company employees know that we must keep offering our customers outstanding values: to stay ahead of competition.

that is the true source of new employment.

Planned risk-taking is a necessary source of business growth and therefore the employment growth.

FOR EXAMPLE, the new businesses which General Electric has entered on this basis in the last 10 years, and which are now established in terms of jobs and sales, include such new technologies as nuclear power, space systems, dataprocessing, solid-state and metals.

More than one quarter of the employment in General Electric today has been created by such new businesses in the last 10 years. Yet these only are the most obvious of the planned risks that the company has taken. Every improvement we make represents a commitment to a risk—the risk of research projects that might end in nothing, of experiments that might fail, or new designs that might not win customers acceptance.

It's on the taking of investment risks such as these, and on the existence of adequate incentives for taking them, that United States industry depends for its capacity to generate profits, to provide employment opportunities and to stay ahead of the rest of the world in this new day of worldwide competition.

History Today

Today is Friday, July 12, the 193rd day of 1963. There are 172 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1864, Union troops reached Washington D.C., in time to prevent the city's capture by Confederate cavalry and infantry forces. On the day before, the Confederates had been in the city's outskirts on the route House to Capitol, and the Treasury.

On this date
In 1806 Napoleon established the Confederation of the Rhine.

In 1892, Cyrus Field, the driving force behind the laying of the Atlantic cable, died at the age of 73.

In 1920 the Panama Canal was formally opened.

In 1941, Britain and the Soviet Union signed mutual assistance treaty during World War II.

In 1960, the United States charged Russia of a wanton attack in shooting down an American RB47 military plane.

Ten years ago... Russia rejected as a so-called "propaganda maneuver" an offer by President Eisenhower to send $15 million worth of American food to hungry East Germans.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Since you seem to have a mature and sensible approach to funerals for pets I would like your advice on a problem that came up just this week.

My widowed mother lives alone in a large city. Her sole companion is my childhood pet, a rat terrier named Miss Florabelle. A few days ago I received a long letter from mother saying that Miss Florabelle is almost blind and she is so feeble she can scarcely walk. The vets say she could go any time.

Mother says she can't bear the thought of Miss Florabelle being hauled away by the garbage man. She wants me to bury her in my backyard. She closed with "If you agree, son, I will be vastly relieved. I'll send Miss Florabelle's remains to you — air mail—in a suitcase."

I loved that dog Ann, but the whole thing gives me the creeps. Please tell me what to do.—BEILDERED.

Dear Bewildered: It is against the law to send dead dogs in the mail.

Tell your mother that when Miss Florabelle goes to her eternal rest, she should call the humane society. They will come and get her and see to it that she has the kind of burial an animal should have.—

Confidence Respected

Dear Ann: Together with other clergymen, I personally appreciate the sound and often humorous advice you give to those who seek help. I appreciate, too, that you frequently refer your readers to professional counselors. This is what I am writing about.

Recently a woman wrote: "I have a delicate problem. I can't discuss it with our clergyman or doctor because we are well known in the community and if this story ever got out my husband would be furious."

Perhaps the writer had had an unfortunate experience with a counselor who was not discreet but every professional person of my acquaintance guards all confidences as a sacred trust.

Your readers should be told that ethical counselors may not be compelled, even by law, to relate confidences, unless the penances gives his consent.

I do hope you will print this letter so your readers will feel completely comfortable when they seek professional counseling.—BATTLE CREEK PASTOR.

Dear Pastor: Many thanks for writing. I would like to add that many readers to whom I have suggested professional counseling have written back to express their deep appreciation.

Art Gallery

Dear Ann: We built a lovely new house two years ago. I work full time at an office job and have no help at home.

When the house was brand new we had a big party and invited all our relatives and friends. My father-in-law asked if he could show his paintings at that time and offered to present the paintings to us as a gift. I said "fine" and handed him the house key so he could hang the pictures for the big event.

After two years he still has the key and our home has been turned into a gallery for anyone he wishes to drag through. He usually phones and announces, "The Thundering Herd is on the way"—then hangs up.

I'm fed up with all sorts of people tracking through our house. My husband says it would be rude and hurtful to tell the old gentleman to return the key and stop bringing people over.

What should we do about this?—MRS. WALKED ALL OVER.

Dear Mrs.: It is your husband's responsibility to tell his father the open house is over. He should encourage his father to take the paintings back since obviously the old gentleman is proud of his art and wishes to continue to show it.

The Dog Might Wag His Tail

In this, the speculative season of presidential politics, nothing could be siffer than the effect of a Goldwater candidacy on Eastern Republicanism.

This element of the Republican party has been wagging the dog most of the time since it learned the trick in 1940 with Wendell L. Willkie.

It continued to exert its influence during the Dewey candidacies, then made its ultimate score by nominating Dwight D. Eisenhower over Ohio Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Its spokesmen and writers who echo the thoughts of its spokesmen are saying that if Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater stays in his front-running position and wins the Republican presidential nomination in 1964 it will be fatal to Eastern Republicans running on the same ticket.

Coveted Awards

If the names in future lists of recipients of the Presidential Medal of Freedom cover as wide a range of accomplishment as the first list of 31, this will be one of the world's coveted awards.

It is tardy in being added to the U.S. list of gracious gestures. Other countries long have had ways of recognizing outstanding civilian ability among their own nationals and others.

Thus, the United States now can recognize such diverse talents as that of Robert J. Kipphut, swimming coach and athletic director at Yale University; Alexander Meikeljohn, philosopher and college president; E. B. White of New Yorker Magazine fame; Thornton Wilder, playwright and novelist; Pablo Casals, cellist and conductor; Jean Monnet, economic planner and promoter of a "United States of Europe" and Edward Seichen photographer.

In years to come, bestowal of the Presidential Medal of Freedom will be a confirmation of distinction for men and women in many fields of endeavor, in many countries.

This is an inspired way to recognize such diverse talents as that of the great Negro contralto Marian Anderson, and Luis Munoz Marin, governor Puerto Rico.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I have a good idea for handling goons who misuse telephones to pester subscribers with sales pitches and sadistic joke. Imitate those infuriating recordings when answering the phone—the kind that invite the caller to leave a message. Then click off and hang up.

For the first time in my adult life I can think of no excuse for legislators who leave the impression they are unable to legislate because they are playing politics for its own sake. They leave me with this impression, too.

U.S. Bureau of Customs wants to experiment with a plan to clear the baggage of New York-bound passengers in ports abroad, to avert jams at this end of the trip, which recalls one of New York's funniest free shows—the view from the gallery at Idlewild Airport as incoming passengers open their luggage for customs inspection.

I am recurrently impressed with a fact about criminals that is easily forgotten. Except for a handful of top operators, these people are of inferior intelligence and easily trapped. Otherwise, they would take the country by storm.

It tickled me to read that the good people of Britain are wondering how to keep other pretty girls from foregoing virtue in favor of living as high as Christine Keeler and her counterparts. The problem is not new. The solution has something to do with the way kids are brought up.

My only first-hand experience with rail-roading came in my teens when another kid and I hopped a freight train rumbling through town at slow speed, were spotted by a rear-end brakeman who started after us brandishing a club and unloaded along a right of way cluttered with piles of ties and cinders. By that time, the freight had gathered speed and the unloading was an end-over-end process, made more so by the

THEIR GLOOMY forecasts refer to the wide divergence between Sen. Goldwater's views and the views of New Yorkers like Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating.

Is it possible, though, that the gloomsters are more concerned about losing control of the interior apparatus of the Republican party than about losing their elective positions?

And is it impossible that what they have in mind when they warn Republicans elsewhere about the effect of a Goldwater candidacy is strategy for helping themselves, not the Republican party?

It would be hard to reconcile the views of a Goldwater and a Rockefeller.

It would be a shock for many Eastern Republicans to be confronted with Sen. Goldwater's views on many matters now in public discussion.

BUT THERE IS no greater divergence, surely, than exists between the North and South wings of the Democratic party, or than existed between the Kennedys and the Johnsonites in 1960.

As for Republican candidates with no coats-tails to cling to without looking foolish, they would have to run on their personal records which for most of them would be more than adequate.

That 3-Leafed Twig

Ivy poisoning is no joke, as several Salem district persons will tell you.

Reactions from the irritating juices of the little plant can even become serious, as doctors will point out.

The best precaution is to know how to recognize the plant, as well as poison oak and sumac, and avoid them.

If you have been exposed, wash thoroughly, several times, with warm water and plenty of soap. You might be able to get some of the oil off before it begins to irritate the skin.

Very few people are immune. Some, because they've never had a rash, think so. They've just been lucky.

fact I landed backward.

Someone was wondering what I thought about the way things are going in South Viet Nam. I am unable to think about a country whose names I neither can spell nor pronounce. I get as confused as I used to get about those Russian novels in which the characters' names kept shifting around.

The lady with whom I discuss things freshly finally put her finger on what looks odd about people in compact cars. One night when she was sitting outside on my arrival home from work she said, "You don't look real in that thing. You look as if you'd been painted in there."

Headline writers develop bad habits, to make words fit. Short words are irresistible, such as "head" for president, chairman, president principal etc. I keep waiting for a headline that calls the president of a packing house company a "meat head" not to mention a dozen other wonderful possibilities.

Incidentally, ladies swimsuits are half off again.

There are times when I feel sorry for Floyd Patterson. Then I remember the greatest receipts from any fight were an estimated $5 million from the third Patterson-Johansson fight at Miami Beach in 1961, with Patterson's share estimated at $2¼ million. At such prices, who needs pity?

The secretary of the family reunion I get involved in each summer has joined the Peace Corps, which gives you an idea about our family. She is an aging school teacher. Last summer she went to Africa. A gadabout.

It would strengthen my faith in men of large affairs if someone explained why Frank Lane was considered a baseball genius when all I've ever heard about was his compulsion to trade, trade, trade.

NEW YORK (AP)—In summer the average business office becomes a kind of refuge for the walking wounded. People go gladly to work then because it is the only place they know where they can enjoy air-conditioned safety—and escape the dangers of home and leisure. Weekends are the worst of all. The results show up on Monday, when most swivel chairs are unmanned because their usual occupants through the company doctors office.

"I think my hair will grow back alright, but what about my right big toe? Do you think it's too late to sew it back on?"

The office boy walks in like a bowlegged cowboy.

"Spent the weekend racing my motor bike," he tells the medic "What's good for saddle sores?"

Sally Primrose, the secretary, went on a picnic—and now she has red-rimmed, weeping eyes and can't stop sneezing.

"All I did—kerchoo!!—was to bend down and smell a wildflower," she explains, "and now I've got—kerchoo!!—this terrible attack of hay fever. What can you do for me?"

"Gesundheit!" says the doctor helpfully.

The line of sufferers snaps to attention as the boss, shamefaced, enters with a heavily bandaged right hand. Their ears go up as they hear him bark behind the doctor's closed door:

"I hit the ball off the third tee, and it landed in the rough. Just between us, Doc, I reached down to toss it o a beer lie—we were playing for two bucks a hole—and I guess that's when I picked up this poison ivy. But don't let those jerks outside know what happened or I'll never hear the last of it."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Heloise: For those who happen not to be lucky enough to own air conditioners and fans, and yet must have glass curtains and panels:

Buy a pretty colored plastic clothes pin at your dime store (or use a hair clip) and leave it attached to the bottom hem of your curtain near the wall where it won't show.

At night, when the cool breezes are blowing, take the hair clip or clothes pin, pull the curtain back and clip it to the opposite side of the curtain.

This leaves enough air space for the breeze to come through the bedroom.

It does not ruin the curtain, nor does it look untidy.

JANICE MILLER.

DEAR HELOISE: When my mayonnaise gets a bit low in the jar, I pour in a little bit of milk to make a thick or medium sauce. I also add some sweet pickles, relish, chopped onions and celery.

I then replace the cap and shake the bottle vigorously. Back it goes in the refrigerator for later use as a salad dressing, etc. Great.

When I make macaroni or potato salad, I just pour on my seasoned dressing. I also use this in tuna fish and egg salad sandwiches. Saves lots of time. It's always ready for quick use.

LAURA HERBERT.

DEAR HELOISE: I tape a heavy plastic bag to the inside of my cupboard doors and keep all of my plastic bowl covers in it. They are easy to find and do not clutter up a drawer.

This is also a good place to keep anything that is light weight such as more plastic bags.

CANTON.

You, doll! And I have metal cabinets. Now, I have a beautiful place for all my plastic lids. Thank you, M'am.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When I make drop dumplings in broth I put an inverted glass pie plate on top of the kettle to use as a lid.

This way I can see when my dumplings are done without lifting the lid and letting the steam escape!

ALMA M.

Now why haven't I ever thought of that? Love you!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I use red cake-coloring when I make a ing windows and shower doors with this. Read directions on package.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For a quick and lumpless gravy I keep a jar filled with a mixture of half cornstarch and half flour. I put three or four tablespoons of this mixture in a jar and add some water and in a few seconds I have a smooth paste for all of my gravy.

MRS. A. R. HEINTZE.

DEAR HELOISE: Do any know how to get the odor out of foam rubber mattresses and pillows? Just keeping the bedroom windows open does not do the trick.

MRS. U. D.

Anyone know? This question comes in every day. Sure would appreciate you taking time off to drop us an answer. Write your answers to Heloise.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I wonder if anyone can tell me how to frost windows so I won't need to use curtains ... especially in my garage!

M.H.

The only answer I have found is to go to your dime store where they sell gold fish and aquarium equipment.

Ask for a froster — this is a liquid which people ordinarily buy to coat the inside of gold fish bowls and aquariums. I have had excellent results coat-

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Health Questions, Answers

Q—What causes myxedema and is there a cure?
A—Myxedema may be caused by failure of the thyroid to put out enough of its hormone (thyroxin) or of the pituitary to put out enough thyroid stimulating hormone (thyrotropin). The first cause may occur following thyroiditis, exposure of large doses of X-ray, or surgical removal of more than seven-eighths of an overactive thyroid. The second cause may occur following tumors or other diseases of the pituitary.

The victim will have a dull, apathetic expression; rough, dry skin; puffy eyelids; dry, brittle hair which may be prematurely gray; slurred speech with a husky voice; slowing of mental and physical activity; and in women prolongation of the menstrual periods. The diagnosis is confirmed by finding a low basal metabolic rate.

must be controlled by periodic checks of the metabolic rate.

Q—I am a 29-year-old woman. In the last two years my breasts have diminished in size. I tire easily and my hair is thinning. Is this normal? What could be wrong?

A—This combination of findings in a 29-year-old woman is not normal. It may be due to a thyroid deficiency or some other hormonal imbalance. Why not get a thorough checkup and be sure?

Q—My husband has agnogenic myeloid metaplasia. What is it and can it be cured?

A—In this condition there is a change in the type of cells found in the spleen. The spleen is usually enlarged and contains myeloid cells of the type found in bone marrow. Since these findings do not tie in with any known disease, and because those who have it may have either normal or abnormal bone marrow, this condition is not considered to be a disease in itself but merely indicative of some disease of the blood-forming organs.

Agnogenic means of unknown cause. Some persons with this condition have anemia. Some have jaundice, and some have poisoning due to exposure to such solvents as benzene and carbon tetrachloride. Your husband should have a thorough study to determine any possible cause and any changes in other organs. Treatment would depend on the results of such a study.

Mine

Shannon theorized the youths, in a spirit of adventure, went into the mine to explore and became lost in its dark, twisting corridors.

An eight-man rescue team, using self-contained breathing equipment, took up the search after firemen were turned back by lethal black damp gas. Five of the rescue experts were from the U.S. Bureau of Mines; three from the Pennsylvania Mines Department.

The rescue experts found fresh footprints and a pack of matches which apparently had been dropped recently. However, neither discovery could be linked definitely to the missing boys.

One section of the mine is filled with water, and the searchers planned to check it later after covering the rest of the mine.

Searchlights lit the area as rescue operations continued through the night.

The three boys left home Thursday morning. A search was begun when they failed to return for supper.

Owned by the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Co., the mine was abandoned about 20 years ago.

It has two main corridors and nine shafts. One corridor extends laterally to the left for several thousand feet from the entrance. The other veers to the right for about 100 feet and descends at a steep angle for about 150 feet. It is filled with water.

Matter of Fact

Seafarers seem to have had some knowledge of the existence and position of Iceland as early as the 4th century. However, no settlement is known to have been made there before the 9th century, when Irish hermits set up their dwellings. A Norwegian chief began the actual settlement of Iceland when he moved his family to what is now the capital, Reykjavik.

The word "individualism" was coined by Alexis de Tocqueville to describe a kind of moderate selfishness, disposing men to be concerned with only their own small circle of family and friends.

Baltimore, Md., was site of the first outdoor gaslight installation.

THE WHITE HOUSE FAMILY QUARTERS

WHERE TO PUT THE BABY? — It's getting crowded in the cabin for the nation's First Family, just as it has for millions of growing families not quite so well known. There may be 121 rooms in the White House, but the new addition due this year to the John F. Kennedys is already causing problems.

Critical factor, as shown in floor plan of the private part of the White House, is placing a nursery in close proximity to nurse Maude Shaw.

The First Lady's dressing room and other rooms such as the Treaty Room and Queen's Room (where five reigning queens have stayed as guests) were ruled out because of this and because of continual traffic in corridors and sitting rooms.

So, for the first few months of his life, the newest Kennedy will stay in nurse Shaw's bedroom, which was formerly a 9x12 storage closet.

Later, the baby will share a bedroom with brother John Jr. Of course, if the family had a long enough lease on the executive mansion, some of the kids could eventually move upstairs where there are 21 more rooms.

Schnell Files Appeal From NLRB Finding

Schnell Tool & Die Corp. and Salem Stamping & Manufacturing Co. Inc. announced today that they have filed exceptions to the trial examiner's findings with the National Labor Relations Board in the recent labor dispute.

The trial examiner made certain recommended findings against the companies which the companies contend were wholly unjustified and they have petitioned the National Labor Relations Board in Washington to reverse these findings.

Labor negotiations between the two companies have been underway since November of 1962 after the United Steelworkers of America (AFL-CIO) was certified as the bargaining representative for employees of both companies.

Unfair labor practice charges were filed against both companies by the union and a hearing was held at Salem City Hall in March and April of this year which resulted in the recommended order of the trial examiner.

The basis of the appeal is that the companies are two separate and distinct firms, that no employee has been discharged for union activity and that the sale of the former Gonda Engineering plant to Quaker Manufacturing Co. was not an unfair labor practice.

The National Labor Relations Board will consider the appeal and either reverse or affirm the findings and then either side may appeal this ruling to the United States Sixth District Court of Appeals.

SAICD later acquired seven more acres adjacent to this property.

The 67 acres were offered to the A & P which took an option on the land.

The matter of water and sewage facilities was then given serious consideration. City Council agreed to take the water and sewer lines to the southern edge of the city and SAICD offered to pick up the tab for extending lines to the A & P property.

The city engineer's department worked to meet A & P's request that the utilities lines be installed by May 1. Water and sewer lines were completed to the site of the A & P plant by April 20.

With Patients

Mrs. Gladys Miller, 68, of 672 N. Lincoln Ave. was treated and released at Alliance City Hospital at 7:30 p.m. Thursday for a sprained right foot which she suffered in a fall at Alliance.

Verdict Expected By Jury Today In Traffic Mishap

LISBON — A verdict in the second degree manslaughter trial of Wayne Hillyer, 33, of Hanoverton, is expected later today. Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp charged the jury at approximately 10 this morning.

After being charged the jury of six men and six women started their deliberation in the four-day trial in which Hillyer was indicted for the traffic death of Earl McIntosh, 43, of New Garden, who was a patron of the Midway Restaurant and Tavern in Hanoverton, Jan. 13, 1962, when the car Hillyer was driving crashed through the wall killing McIntosh and injuring his wife, two other patrons and the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoider.

The state claims Hillyer violated three traffic laws, speeding, reckless operation and drunk driving.

Hillyer on the stand alleged that he put his car into passing gear, his foot pedal stuck and he reached down to pull the foot feed up and lost control, striking his head on the rear view mirror. He says he doesn't remember what happened after that.

The defense called Lee Bowman, manager of the Farmer's National Bank at Hanoverton, the first person to arrive at the scene after the accident. He testified that he thought the car "peeled" down the road rather than skidded as the prosecution contended. Mrs. Margaret Murray, co-owner of Hillcrest Tavern, said Hillyer was in her tavern from about 3 to 8:30 p.m. the day before the accident.

Dan Criss of Alliance, driver of the car Hillyer was passing, also testified, with Al Marquis, president of Hanoverton Council; Floyd Wilson, Hanoverton mayor; Rev. John Bortor, Presbyterian minister, and Isaac Lee, foreman at the H. K. Porter Plant in Lisbon where Hillyer worked for past 16-years.

of the workers at the warehouse plant have not been worded out, the company explained today.

As completion of the building and installation of extensive refrigerating and air conditioning equipment nears, company personnel officials will announce what types of workers are to be engaged for the plant.

One official, however, commented today that "a wide variety of workers" will be employed.

The building itself is expected to be completed by Freeman by next January.

Post Office

appeared reluctant to agree to sell the building since the $75,500 bid was approximately $25,000 less than the property had been appraised.

Other bidders were: Meriam E. Coe, Shaker Heights, $39,000; Samuel O. Magram, Pittsburgh, $20,550; and Preston E. Corey of Columbiana $20,550.

Besides Eckfeld, another Salem official of the Youngstown company is W. Ray Pearce, a member of the board of directors.

Real Estate Tax Statements Ready

Columbiana County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge announced today that approximately 26,000 statements for the concluding payment for the second-half real estate taxes of 1962 will be placed in the mail next week. Closing date for payment is Aug. 10.

He explained that if an individual purchased property after Jan. 1 of any year, the law requires the title to appear in the former owner's name on the treasurer's tax statements, including the last-half collection.

Tax statements are mailed as an aid to the collection, he added, and said that failure of the statement to reach you, gives a person no legal defense against penalties.

The treasurer also pointed out that if a buyer assumed the tax as part of the purchase price, to obtain statements, in addition to the recording of the deed, you must notify the treasurer's office, giving a description of the property purchased and the name of the former owner.

had been watching from across the street surged to the rescue of the sit-in group, found the restaurant door locked and tried to break it down.

A white crowd of about the same size joined battle with the Negro group and it took police 10 minutes to break up the milling punching mob.

The restaurant owner, Robert Fehsenfeld, said he was closing his place, known as Dizzyland, for an indefinite period.

State Police later used dogs to prevent a further clash between about 300 whites and Negro demonstrators and about 1,000 white hecklers.

The demonstrators had just made their usual sundown march on the courthouse to protest segregation in Cambridge. They were booed, jeered and pelted with raw eggs as they prayed and sang at the courthouse square.

When they began the seven-block return march to their meeting place in the Negro district, the whites tried to follow them but were contained by the police and dogs.

Salem Class AA Softball Stars Nip Chuck's 3-2

Alliance VFW Beats 'A' Unit

Akron Girls Squad Edges Hubbard 3-2

Dick Youngpeter received the "most valuable player" trophy at the conclusion of the Class AA All-Stars tilt with Alliance Chuck's Inn as he led the Salem Group to a 3-2 victory with a pair of home runs at Kelley Field last night.

The Alliance VFW edged the Salem Class A stars 7-6 in a thriller which featured a three-run homer by Ed Stafane to tie the score in the sixth.

A CROWD OF ABOUT 250 was attracted to the park, many of the fans came to see the Akron AFL-CIO, Hubbard girls softball contest. The Akron crew posted a 3-2 win.

Youngpeter hit his second homer with two out in the 8th inning. Manager "Hoss" Wright used 19 players in the game, with hurler Bill Herman gaining credit for the victory.

The All-Stars took a 1-0 lead in the fourth on Youngpeter's first blast. A walk to Wayne Walters set up the second run in the fifth as he raced home on an error.

Jack Defenbaugh led off the fifth frame with a single for the losers. He moved to second base on an error, and two fielders choice allowed him to race home for Chuck's first run.

Bob Moore tied the score in the sixth with a home run for the losers.

JUST PRIOR TO the start of the contest, Jim Ramser of Chuck's, who competes for Alliance Ware in the Salem City Class A League, won the home run hitting contest as he belted a pair in six tries over the fence.

Alliance VFW alternated Jack DeFanbaugh from pitcher, to right field and back to pitcher, and the tactics resulted in the versatile athlete getting the MVP "A" award at the end of the contest.

Manager Marve Sosbe's unit fell behind 3-0 by the end of the third frame. Ralph Sponseller hit a home run and three consecutive singles gave the winner the margin.

In the bottom of the fourth, Salem picked up a run on a walk, fielder's choice and a single by Clarence Beverly. Each team tallied a run in the fifth.

Alliance scored once again in the top of the sixth to take a 5-2 lead.

Jim Eckstein was walked to start the bottom half of the sixth inning. Jim Foreman was also walked, which set the stage for Stefane's game tying blast. His long clout hit the upper part of the score board in deep center field.

The winner pusher across two runs in the top of the seventh on a walk, single, a fielder's choice, sacrifice and a double by D. Good.

Paul Herman reached base on an error in the bottom of the seventh for Salem. With two down, Jim Foreman and Stefane hit back-to-back singles to cut the deficit to 7-6. John Sprowl popped out to the first baseman to retire the side.

AKRON, which faces a strong Bloomfield Harley-Davidson squad at Kelley Field next Wednesday, took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on singles by Janet Reeder and Barbara Klicka, a walk and a fielder's choice.

Hubbard moved in front 2-1 in the third as Barbara Bonace walked, moved to second on a sacrifice bunt and scored on a single by Cora Gorbey, who also raced home on an error and a sacrifice fly.

Reeder led the winners with two hits. Betty Nizolek collected a pair of singles for the losers. It was Akron's 10th victory in 15 starts. The squad split in a doubleheader with Harley-Davidson earlier this season.

Tribe Rallies In Eighth To Bury A's 8-6; Kirkland Belts Ninth Home Run

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ex-Indian Doc Edwards and Cleveland catcher Joe Azcue—two principals in a trade earlier this year—provided the drama in the Tribe's 8-6 come-from-behind victory over Kansas City Thursday night.

Both got clutch hits—Edwards a homer and Azcue a double—but the latter helped turn the tide for the Tribe.

Azcue pinch hit for pitcher Jim Grant in the eighth inning with the Indians behind 6-5, men on first and third and two out. He rifled a double down the right field

Giants Nip Phils 4-3 As McCovey Hits Safely In 15th Game In Row

By JIM HACKLEMAN Associated Press Sports Writer

"I don't know where we'd be without him."

That's Al Dark, manager of the San Francisco Giants, speaking of Willie McCovey.

Where the Giants are—with McCovey—is in second place in the National League and the tall slugger with the quick wrists and awesome power definitely has been their key man.

The left-handed belter who operates at first base or the outfield for he defending league champions again demonstrated his value Thursday night at Philadelphia.

He singled in the sixth inning, stretching his hitting streak to 15 games, then rapped his 24th homer in the eighth for the run that stood up as the clincher in a 4-3 victory.

The Los Angeles Dodgers stayed four games ahead of the pack capitalizing on a pair of errors and dealing the New York Mets their 12th straight loss 4-3. It was the fourth victory in a row for the high-flying Dodgers, and the ninth in their last 10 games.

Bucs Blank Colts 3-0

Elsewhere in the NL—Don Cardwell pitched a two-hitter in Pittsburgh's 3-0 shutout of the Houston Colts; Chicago and Cincinnati split a two-nighter, the Cubs erupting for seven runs in the 11th inning of the opener for a 7-0 romp and the Reds taking the second game 7-3 with a four-run eighth; and St. Louis also divided with Milwaukee the Cards winning 6-3 before dropping a 5-3 decision to the Braves.

The Giants had four men put out on the bases in a display of careless running and had to withstand a big threat in the ninth inning. Juan Marichal posted his 14th victory in 18 decisions with relief from Bob Bolin. Rookie Ray Culp, 10-7, was the loser.

The two Met errors combined with three Dodger hits pushed the league leaders into a 4-2 lead at New York — and nailed Roger line that tied the score and kept a rally going that produced three runs.

Following Azcue's hit and walk to Tito Franco, John Wyatt relieved Dale Willis for the As. He walked Larry Brown with the bases full and threw a wild pitch for another run.

The Indians took a 3-0 lead in the first inning on Willie Kirkland's ninth home run with two aboard.

But George Alusik and Ken Harrelson smacked solo homers off Dick Donovan, who was knocked from the box in the third inning after giving up four runs on four hits.

Cleveland bounced back to tie it with two runs in the fourth. Edwards unloaded his blast to give the As a 6-5 edge in the sixth.

The Tribe caught fire in the eighth when John Romano singled with one out and Al Luplow cracked the first of his two singles. That set the stage for Azcue's game-tying blow.

Jack Kralick, the Indians most effective starter this year, will try to improve his record of eight victories and six defeats tonight when he faces Kansas City's Orlando Pena (5-12).

Browns' Rookies Go Through Tough Drill

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—If the rookies at the Cleveland Browns' freshman training camp at Hiram College thought they were going to be introduced to professional football contact play gradually, they know now they were dead wrong.

There was contact aplenty Thursday, the first day of try-outs, in place of the usual intelligence tests. There was everything but tackling as all but three of the National Football club's rookies showed up—23 in all.

"I felt the fact should be established right away that we will play aggressive football," explained Blanton Collier, the Browns' new head coach. "Some of the newcomers may not understand how the game is played in the National Football League."

"They might just as well face up to it right now."

The players worked out in two sessions wearing shoulder pads,

Baltimore Snaps Washington Win Streak 7-4

Yanks Dump Angels In 10th 3-2; Chisox Rip Tigers 6-3

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Those American League winners insist Whitey Ford "doesn't have a thing," better keep an eye on the umpire, somebody's murdering 'em.

Ford, 34, left-handed ace of the New York Yankees pitching staff, threw nothing at the Los Angeles Angels Thursday night and came away with a 3-2 victory in 10 innings, his 10th in a row and No. 14 this season.

To many AL observers Ford has lost some of his stuff, and is using his head instead of his arm to outwit the batters. Head arm, Ford had it again against the Angels, turning aside three after threat as Los Angeles cracked 11 hits and scored only a pair of unearned runs.

Keeps Yanks In Front By 5
Ford's 14th kept the Yankees five games ahead of the second-place Chicago White Sox, who turned a six-run third inning into a 6-3 victory over Detroit.

Third-place Boston edged Minnesota 2-0 behind Bill Monbouquette's three-hit pitching, Baltimore ended a Washington winning streak at seven games with a 7-4 triumph and Cleveland made the most of John Wyatts wildness for an 8-6 decision over Kansas City.

The Yankees playing without Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, got a two-run homer from Hector Lopez in the sixth inning that tied the score, then won in the 10th when Joe Pepitone doubled and Elston Howard followed with a single. That tagged the defeat on Julio Navarro, 4-3. An error by Lopez and a passed ball by Howard allowed the Angels to score two unearned fourth inning runs against Ford, who needed Hal Reniff's last inning relief help.

The White Sox batted around in the third, chasing Hank Aguirre, 7-8. The key blows were a two-run double by Mike Hershberger and Jim Landis' two-run triple.

Gary Peters, touched for single runs in the first and second, settled down until two were out in the ninth when Jim Brosnan had to get the final out. Peters is 6-5.

Picks Up 12th Victory
Monbouquette posted his first shutout of the season and brought his record to 12-6 by besting the Twins' Dick Stigman, 7-9. Stigman allowed only four hits in the eight innings he worked, but two were homers—by Bob Tillman and Ed Bressoud. The loss was the Twins eighth in nine games.

The Senators were leading 3-0 with Tom Cheney working on a two-hitter when the Washington starter had to leave with pains in his right elbow. The Orioles immediately went to work, rushing six runs in the seventh inning to put it away.

Wyatt, who's been troubled by wildness recently, waled Larry Brown to force in the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning, then wild pitched another across. The Indians had drawn even earlier in the inning on singles by Dick Howser and Al Luplow and Jose Azcue's pinch-hit double.

Kirkland homered for Cleveland while George Alusik, Ken Harrelson and Dor Edwards connected to get the final out. Peters is 6-5.

Farmers Bank Blanks Mullins 8-0

Jackson's One-Hitter Features Junior Baseball League Action

Pitcher Charlie Jackson gave Attie 28-10 at Buckeye Field and up just one hit as Farmers Bank blanked Mullins 8-0 in Class F action at Memorial north field Thursday.

IN CLASS H competition, Hobycraft clipped Stark's Colonial

Charles Tipton and Charles Drackulich led Farmers Bank with two hits each. The winners broke the game wide open in the second with a seven run rally.

Denny Mayhew led the Mullins aggregation with its only hit.

Bill Wright clouted a home run, triple and three singles to pace Sekely. Dan Papis smashed a home run and two singles and Harry Owen belted a home run and single.

Gregg Proctor collected two singles and Andy Hicks had a single for the losers' only hits, off winning hurler Owens who struck out 10 and walked one.

CIO 3372 chalked up five markers in the first frame, then coasted to its victory. Wally Hartman led the winners with three hits.

Winning pitcher Wayne Washington struck out 13.

Danny Scullion had a triple and four singles to pace Brickers. Dana Barnes collected a double and three singles. Tom Milligan led the losers with a home run and a single.

Two doubles and two singles by John Fattler, who scored 3 times, led the Lions Club to its win. Gary Smith had two doubles and a single.

Ray Zenko and Jack Detwiler had three hits apiece for the Italian Club.

Hobbycraft was outbait by Stark's 12-11, but cashed in on 21 walks and five errors. Terry Hoops had a home run and double to pace the winners.

Rodgers Leads British Open With 135

By TOM REEDY
ST. ANNES, England (AP)—Tell those guys to look out."

That was Arnold Palmer speaking from a whopping 12 strokes behind leader Phil Rodgers as he faced the final 36 holes of the British Open Golf Championship he has won the last two years.

The Latrobe, Pa., strongboy and famous stretch-runner said it with a grin but somehow he seemed to mean it. He even arranged an early morning date at the pro shop to tinker with his clubs again, especially his troublesome driver, hoping to hammer out some kind of miracle.

Palmer's charging finishes are famous but back at 147 this time he didn't seem to be fazing the 25-year-old Rodgers, an ex-Marine from La Jolla, Calif., who led the parade into the double round finish with a 36-hole total of 135. Rodgers, who shot a brilliant 68 Thursday to go with his first round of 67, said:

"I'm a front runner myself. I'm not one of those who like to be tucked in behind and then charge away. I've won all my tournaments by being ahead and staying there."

If Rodgers can't stand the pace, it appeared that the men to watch were Peter Thomson of Australia, such a steady British Open campaigner that he's won it four times; and the U.S. Masters champion and heir to Palmer's golf throne, Jack Nicklaus.

Thomson began the final 36 just one stroke behind Rodgers after a 69 Thursday, while Nicklaus was three shots back of the pace at 136, after a great 67.

At 139 was Kel Nagle of Australia, the 1960 champion who had a second round of 70. Bob Charles of New Zealand was alone at 140 and the rest of the field of 47 survivors of the first 72 rounds was strung out up to 149.

ST. ANNES, England (AP)—Leading scorers after 36 holes of the 72-hole British Open Golf Championship Thursday:
